Miles Browser is a small and simplistic Internet browsing program, which allows you to visit any webpage you wish. The application is lightweight and features a shortcut to an online searching engine. You can access a website, go back, forward or refresh the currently loaded page. Simplistic program with large banners Miles Browser allows you to access any website and navigate the Internet in a fast and simple manner. The application features only the basic functions of any Web browser and displays the contents of the page on a strip in the center of its interface. The large banners at the top and bottom of the window severely narrow down the visibility of the website content, even if it is resized to fit the screen. The address bar lies at the bottom of the window, under the command buttons. The software allows you to access a particular Web address, reload the page, as well as switch back and forth between the most recently visited websites. You can also stop a page from loading, using a dedicated function. Missing features The only extra function offered by Miles Browser is a shortcut to Google. Otherwise, it misses several features that browsers usually offer. The bookmark function is not active and neither is the language changer. It cannot set the home page, does not allow you to view the website history and in most cases it cannot display Flash content on websites. Unlike many modern browsers, you cannot open more tabs, however, you can open several windows simultaneously. The Miles Browser Crack Keygen, which is designed specifically for mobile phones, allows you to view websites and browse the Internet in a quick and simple manner. The program is designed for easy navigation and enables you to browse the Internet using the phone keypad. Miles Browser offers you several options. There is no option to open a particular website or site from a directory and it lacks the basic functions of a standard browser. Miles Browser has no built-in bookmark function, but you can create and store your bookmarks. You can also add to your favorites on the phone and have them sent to the computer. You can use Miles Browser to browse the Internet, but you will have to download the software from the internet. The installation of the program is not automatic. This new app from George Papellas will enable you to browse the internet, go through many different websites and to search anything that is on the internet from any kind of devices, via your tablet, via your phone, via the computer and via your television. Features The only missing feature that George Papellas is offering is that he forgot to add the option to open sites from the folders, and he did not add anything about searching on the computer. A very brief description of all the features of this app will still be a good thing to read. The list of features on Miles Browser are the following. Navigate the web, directly from your phone and tablet with a super fast app. Miles Browser can be used with any device that has an internet connection. Search any website on the internet! Browse websites directly from the phone keypad. Miles Browser is designed for tablet owners, but if you have a laptop or a computer that is linked to the internet, you are covered as well. Create and save your favorite websites Quickly save your favorite websites to your device. Bookmark any website you want! You don't have to save every website you want to visit later. Bookmark your favorite websites directly from your mobile device. Go directly to your bookmark. No more to scroll or use the address bar. Search any website on the internet! Simply search the internet using a keyword, a phrase, or a website's domain. You can even search on public websites. Add websites to your favorite category! Send websites to your favorite categories and quickly access them later. 09e8f5149f

Basic Internet browser 2.50 MB Miles Miles is a simple and powerful navigation application, which aims to provide the user with the easiest way to browse the World Wide Web. The software features intuitive navigation through hierarchical categories, allowing the user to locate the particular webpage he or she wishes to open in the current session. The application features many convenient functions, such as page reloading, forward and backward browsing and favorites. Simple interface and navigation Miles offers the user a simplistic interface, which keeps the usual features at a minimum. The categories and sub-categories are displayed at the top of the window on a single line with six buttons. At the bottom of the window, the name of the current website is displayed in a small, bold font and in a square at the top-right corner. Underneath the name of the site, you can find the address of the page you are currently browsing and a small, convenient down arrow icon, that allows you to find more relevant sites to your current search. On the left side of the page, the list
